

RELIEF ACTIVITY ON UNIFIED BASIS

City and County Able To Meet Problem Without Lost Motion.

Atlanta and Fulton county relief organizations for the first time are in a position to face the city and county's unemployment problems and relief needs on a unified basis, which guarantees most economical expenditure of funds, eliminates duplication and affords maximum work relief, it was announced Tuesday in a statement issued by the newly organized special relief committee of the city and county.

The committee, headed by County Commissioner Walter B. Stewart, said that it has records of 25,000 to 30,000 persons, in addition to those regularly cared for by Community Chest agencies, requiring food and direct aid. There is available to meet the situation only $6,500 a week from the county, city and private pledges, and a budget of $12,000 a week is needed to deal adequately with the problem, it was said.

Members of the committee, in addition to Stewart, are Councilman Edward L. Almond, Frank H. Neely, president of the Community Chest; W. E. Mitchell, A. Steve Nance, Ronald Ransom and E. A. Thornwell, with Kendall Weisiger as trustee agent.

Committee's Statement.

The committee's statement follows: "The absolute necessity of spreading the inadequate funds available from the city, county and the public on the most economical basis possible, in an effort to help all possible; the need for co-ordinating both public and private relief agencies, and the imminent need of appealing to the public for additional funds, have led the city council and the county commissioners to unite in forming this special relief committee, which superseded all previous committees charged with relief work in the city of Atlanta and Fulton county.

"As the need for relief grew beyond available funds represented by the emergency relief committee and the need for spreading the facilities of the Community Chest, it became apparent that a different form of organization would be necessary to cope with an increasingly serious situation within our community.

"So for the first time, we are in position to face the city and county's unemployment problems and relief needs on a basis which guarantees the most economical expenditure of funds, eliminates duplication, affords maximum work relief and provides the most efficient appeal to the public for funds to finance the agencies at present supporting the Community Chest and to give the relief needed by the unemployed.

25,000 Need Help.

"At the present time we have records of from 25,000 to 30,000 people, in addition to those regularly cared for by Community Chest agencies, requiring food and direct aid. To meet this situation we have available today from the city and county $5,000 a week each, and from private pledges $500 a week, totaling $6,500 a week, or approximately 36 cents per person per week. With a budget of $12,000 a week it would be possible during the summer, due to low food prices, flour received from the government, absence of fuel needs, to deal with the

Assault by Poison Ivy Is Charged to Husband

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., July 26.—(AP)—Antonio Ciglio, of Hadley, pleaded not guilty in district court here today in one of the most unusual assault cases ever before the court. It is alleged that he rubbed poison ivy leaves upon his wife's clothing and upon a towel she used, with the result that the woman's life was in a time of despair. She was employed as a field worker and as she perspired her damped clothing communicated the poison to her body and the towel she used to wipe her face did likewise. The court continued the case for disposition.

problem adequately. With the advent of fall, the total number of needy will increase, as will their requirements, and it will probably be necessary to raise a budget of from $20,000 to $25,000 a week by winter.

"Through Kendall Weisiger, trustee agent of the special relief committee, we are handling in the most thorough manner the investigation and check-up of cases, through the help of 40 volunteer workers and unlimited aid from such agencies as the Family Welfare Association, Salvation Army, Child Welfare Association, and the Travelers Aid.

"Through the co-operation of county authorities five departments have already been established in the county where applicants are assigned to work and paid in scrip which is redeemed at these departments in staple foods.

"As rapidly as possible all purchases of food and supplies are being centralized and secured at wholesale prices. All money appropriated by the city and county is devoted to direct relief, and the small overhead necessary to operation is being met by donations from the public.

Definite Plan Made.

"Both the city and county funds and service, direct relief work by the city warden's office, and all relief activities by the county, are working along a definite program headed up by this committee.

"Atlanta and Fulton county are caring for the needy as well, or better, than the majority of cities in this country, but the public must face the facts and realize that the situation is acute today, and growing more so daily. It should be clearly understood that we are confining all aid to residents of the city of Atlanta and Fulton county, who have been previously employed here in order to avoid an influx of unemployed from other sections of the country, but the number requiring food and medical aid is increasing during the summer months, and will increase at a more rapid rate when cold weather comes.

"If the special relief committee has the confidence of the public to the extent that donations will be given only to authorized agencies under its supervision and is accorded the support of the public so that adequate funds may be raised, there is no question but that we will be able to carry through with a minimum of suffering and hardship.

"Signed: WALTER B. STEWART, EDWARD L. ALMOND, FRANK H. NEELY, W. E. MITCHELL, A. STEVE NANCE, RONALD RANSOM, E. A. THORNWELL."

$1,500,000 U. S. FUND SOUGHT FOR SCHOOLS

Board To Ask Council To Include Request; Teacher Resigns, Another Exonerated.

School board members Tuesday night sought $1,500,000 for school improvements and voted to ask council to include that amount in the sum petitioned from the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, administrators of the $2,122,000,000 federal relief fund.

The resignation of W. B. Kimball, teacher at Boys' High school, was accepted, and Odessa Barker, teacher at Croghan negro school, was exonerated of alleged moral turpitude following a lengthy hearing.

Councilman Joseph E. Berman represented the Barker woman, and more than a score of witnesses were called. Board members held that the administration department, which filed the complaint, failed to make out a case, and by a vote of six for to four against, she was retained on the permanent list.

Commissioner E. R. Sweet, chairman of the current expenditures committee of the board, made the motion seeking the relief fund for additions and repairs to schools. It was passed without dissent.

Announcement of the national winner will be made on August 25. "The Island of Lost Souls" will go into production by September 9 and Atlanta will see the picture during the latter part of November. The national winner will receive a five-week contract at $200 a week, with all expenses paid.

Miss Land is a graduate of the Eastlake School of Oratory, and a post-graduate pupil of Anna Baron Morgan, New York, Atlanta and Hollywood teacher of dramatics. She took a lead role in the first radio play presented over an Atlanta radio station for a run of 13 weeks and she has played a number of roles in the Little Theatre. Miss Land has given readings and dramatic interpretations before the Atlanta Woman's Club, the D. A. R. and U. D. C., the Kiwanis Club and other audiences.

The winner is 5 feet 5 1/2 inches tall and has brown eyes, titian hair, olive complexion and high coloring. Her sponsors are Mrs. William P. Dunn, president of the Atlanta Woman's Club, and Mrs. W. H. Wille, honorary state regent of the D. A. R.

Those aboard included six officers and 60 or 70 members of the crew in addition to the officer cadets and sub-officer cadets.

The Niobe used to be commanded by Count Felix Luckner, famous war-time raider, who has spent much of his time in the United States recently and has been made an honorary citizen of San Francisco.

Shortly after the ship went down a seaplane reached the scene, followed by the cruiser Koonzberg and four fast torpedo boats. Hope was held that the speed with which rescue ships gathered would result in saving many more lives, but late tonight that hope had waned.

Argentina Seeks To Pacify Nations

BUENOS AIRES, July 26.—(AP)—Argentina today sought to make a four-power neutral alliance to prevent war between Bolivia and Paraguay in the 50-year-old Chaco territory dispute.

The signatories would be Argentina, Brazil, Chile and Peru. There was no indication as to progress.

Meanwhile, there was little of peaceful portents in dispatches from La Paz and Asuncion. The Paraguayan government today received a quantity of arms captured from the Bolivians when Paraguayans retook Fort Lopez in the Chaco.

Catholic and society women's clubs of Paraguay offered their jewels and services, the society women advising them to be ready to establish a firm because "Paraguayan aggressiveness meets every pacific project."

COUNCIL VOTES TO ASK 10 MILLION

by Councilman H. Parks Rusk, who attempted to have the measure referred to the sewer committee.

Councilman John A. White, chairman of the auditorium committee of council, was the first one to forego any claim to a preferential place in the list of proposed improvements to be asked for after Millman pleaded for "a sacrifice hit in the interests of the health of the community and for the sake of obtaining money through presentation of a united front on the requests."

White assailed others who at first tried to "fill in line and demonstrate good faith."

He was followed by Councilman J. Frank Beck, chairman of the hospital and charities committee of council, who after citing the need "for better hospitalization in the interest of the poor people of the community," said he realized the necessity for unity, filing of the request and would "not press those claims at this time."

White Fights Motion.

"The people of Atlanta and the state of Georgia will doubt our sincerity if we refer this paper," White said, in fighting the Rusk motion to send it to the sewer committee.

"I do not conceive of such a position in which it would place this council. The people have paid more than $500,000 for surveys and are ready now to start to work on these improvements. I venture to say that the citizens of the community would not vote bonds for any other purpose except to protect their health due to this emergency."

Alderman W. W. Waits, of the sixth ward, made his first speech in advocating the measure.

"This will help every line of industry," he said. "It will help the hotel, restaurant, and other industries. In fact, it will be reflected in every activity in this entire section. It will put 5,000 people to work immediately and provide employment for two years."

Principal provisions of the resolution follow:

Request for $10,000,000 to be expended in sewer construction for modernization of the system of the entire metropolitan area, thus eliminating a health menace.

2. Empowering Mayor Key to take whatever steps he deems advisable to conform with any stipulations or rules the Finance Corporation may lay down in order to get the money.

3. Citation of the fact that Atlanta and other governments in the area are not financially able to pay for the work.

RAIL WORKERS' PROBE SOUGHT BY ROBERTSON

CLEVELAND, July 26.—(AP)—David B. Robertson, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers, today charged engineers in many cases working overtime at the expense of firemen and called for a congressional investigation.

Robertson, who as president of the Railroad Labor Executives Association, is a spokesman for 22 railway labor organizations, also urged speedy action by congress on a bill to shorten the railway working day to six hours and to limit the amount of work an individual employee is permitted to perform.

CLINIC TRAGEDY SUITS SETTLED FOR $167,000

CLEVELAND, July 26.—(AP)—Damage suits in the Cleveland clinic disaster were settled today for $167,000.

The clinic, operated by Dr. George W. Crile, was struck by fire May 15, 1929, and 125 persons were killed by poisonous gases, or by burns.

Most of the deaths were caused by the gas generated by the burning X-ray films in the clinic laboratory. In addition to the loss the clinic suffered from the fire itself, it was made defendant in more than $1,500,000 in damage suits filed by victims who survived and by relatives of those who died.

DANCERS TO PRESENT 'POLICE COURT' SUIT

Jail sentences will be meted out tonight at the marathon dance at the Palais Peachtree by Judge "Red" Armbruster in a comedy skit representing scenes at police court, it was announced Tuesday. The 19 remaining dancers in the contest have passed the 850-hour mark, and plans are now being made for a "1,000-Hour Party" to be given on August 2.

Spectators at the "1,000-Hour Party" will be given presents by the managers and by local merchants.

PHILIPPINES GIVEN 'ECONOMICAL BUDGET'

MANILA, P. I., July 26.—(AP)—A budget for the Philippine Islands calling for appropriations of $27,727,246 in 1933 was presented to the legislature today by Governor General Theodore Roosevelt.

The budget figure is designed to call for the smallest possible government expenditures. Estimated revenue from current sources is $24,000,000, necessitating new forms of taxation.

Missing Boy Found.

MADISON, Conn., July 26.—(AP)—Robert Ellison, 8-year-old son of a Middletown, Ohio, paper manufacturer, who disappeared in the dense woodland here, was found unharmed at 8 a. m. today after an all-night search by 500 volunteers.

Police Halt Gold Rush To State Excavation

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 26.—(AP)—State troopers halted a gold rush on state property here today, but not until treasure-seekers had carried away with them gold and silver coins of an estimated value of $1,000 to $3,000.

The rush began yesterday when it was learned that money was being unearthed by workmen excavating on the Saratoga Springs state reservation.

The coins found ranged in value from $20 gold pieces down to the old-fashioned silver 8-cent coins. The latest date on any coin was 1800 and the earliest was minted in the early part of the eighteenth century.

GRAIN MEN ASSAIL HYDE, FARM BOARD

Secretary of Agriculture Blamed in Trade Board Closing Order.

KANSAS CITY, July 26.—(AP)—Arthur M. Hyde, secretary of agriculture, was included with the federal farm board as a target for criticism in testimony today before a house committee investigating government in business.

C. D. Sturtevant, president of the Trans-Mississippi Grain Company, of Omaha, held Hyde chiefly responsible for the closing order issued against the Chicago Board of Trade, Sturtevant predicted if the order is carried out it will "bring on a panic of good proportions."

The witness expressed belief the order was issued as reprisal for the Chicago board's action in barring the Uplike Grain Company, trading unit of the Farmers' National Grain Corporation, "because of persistent and glaring violation of the rules."

Secretary Hyde, as ex-officio member of the farm board, was really a sort of defendant in the Uplike case," Sturtevant said.

Farmers and grain elevator operators testified as to dissatisfaction with the farm board.

"We paid the farm board to tell us what we already knew—to raise less—and it cost us $500 million dollars," said A. O. Wilson, a flax grower, of LaHarpe, Kan.

"The feeling of the farmers is that the farm board is a political affair for high salaried officials," said J. H. Salley, farmer and elevator operator of Liberal, Kan.

A. L. Greenwood, grain and supply company executive of Ness City, Kan., asserted the farm board was opposed by 80 per cent of the farmers he knew.

Representative E. E. Cox, of Georgia, member of Representative Joseph B. Shannon's investigating committee, was present at the hearing for the first time. He directed many questions at the witnesses.

The committee planned a final hearing for grain men tomorrow. The probe of governmental competition with private business enterprises will be continued in St. Louis Thursday and Friday.

Accused in Fight.

Pace and Eiker face similar charges for leading the veterans into a fight with police yesterday when they attempted a "sight-seeing tour" of the White House. These cases, along with a number of others, were continued until next week.

Contractors hired to clear the ground for continuation of the government's building program were instructed to move their steam shovels into the area tonight and go ahead with demolition and cleaning up tomorrow morning at 6 o'clock.

The veterans living in the shanty town near the capitol were more upset at the prospect of steam shovels working at their doors than at possible police action.

The threat of a demonstration at the courthouse died in a welter of speech-making on the far side of town. Charges of inciting a riot against Pace and Eiker, leaders of yesterday's march in the White House area, were dropped today and charges of parading without permits and disorderly conduct were substituted. Police said they would have had difficulty sustaining the more serious charge.

Peabody, 80, Favors Democratic Outlook

SARATOGA SPRINGS, N. Y., July 26.—(AP)—George Foster Peabody, philanthropist, steps into his eighty-first year tomorrow, feeling "obliged to devote my present health and strength to the political campaign now under way."

The veteran of 66 years of political and business life, in a statement issued on the eve of his eightieth birthday, declared himself "profoundly stirred by the present emergency" of current economic affairs and pleased with the democratic party.

"I think until we deal openly, frankly and radically and with the necessary courage with the evils that have produced these monopolies (under capitalist regime) we shall go from bad to worse," said Mr. Peabody.

Memphians Hurt.

HATTIESBURG, Miss., July 26.—(AP)—Mr. and Mrs. B. Sportorno, of 1185 South Wellington street, Memphis, Tenn., were painfully injured today when the automobile in which they were riding from Bay St. Louis toward Hattiesburg en route home, left the road nine miles south of here on highway 49-E.

CANDIDATE ENDS LIFE IN PHILADELPHIA HOME

Arthur Sellers, 58-Year-Old
Lawyer Faced Embezzlement Charges.

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—(AP)—Harried for weeks by a barrage of charges which included embezzlement, Arthur Sellers, republican candidate for congress, ended his life today, police said, by shooting himself through the heart.

Sellers, one of the central figures in the Philadelphia primary campaign of last April, took this tragic way out of his difficulties while a crowd waited patiently in a magistrate's office for his hearing on a $50,000 embezzlement charge.

Standing before a mirror in a bedroom in his home Sellers sent a bullet through his heart.

On the floor near by his hat in which was an envelope with a message to the police magistrate stating Mr. Sellers would not be at the hearing as he had died.

Sellers, who was 58 and a lawyer, had been deputy coroner for 27 years and still held the position. Through the coroner's office he had been made administrator of many estates of persons whose deaths were investigated by the coroner's office.

As he took his life a policeman stood outside the house to see that Sellers did not leave the city.

A telephone call to the magistrate's office shortly before the hearing was to begin stated that Sellers would be present. A short time later the policeman who was outside the house flashed by telephone to the magistrate that Sellers was dead.

Sellers was to have been given the hearing for alleged embezzlement of the assets of the $50,000 estate of Edward R. Helman.

There were more than one hundred other charges of various kinds against him in connection with the administration of many small estates.

GIRL AMNESIA VICTIM IDENTIFIED BY AUNT

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., July 26.—(AP)—Relatives of Miss Grace Morgan here today were notified that the amnesia patient found in Philadelphia had been positively identified as the young woman who left here two months ago to make her home in Baltimore.

Those residing at the home of Mrs. L. H. Doreau, mother of Miss Morgan, said the girl had been identified in a Philadelphia hospital by an aunt. They understood that Miss Morgan had gone to Washington Sunday, and presumed that after boarding a bus for the return trip lost consciousness and rode on to Philadelphia.

Robert Buys First Bale To Aid Roosevelt; Another Purchased for Governor Russell

Georgia's first and second bales of 1932 cotton were bought, respectively, by admirers of Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. at premiums of almost 10 cents a pound. Standing at the left is L. W. (Chip) Robert, buyer of the Roosevelt bale, and at the right is Fred Cockerell, who purchased the Russell bale. Back of the cotton is J. Hope Tigner, secretary of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange, who auctioned them off. Staff photo by Sanders.

Georgia's first bale of 1932 cotton Tuesday morning was bought for Governor Franklin D. Roosevelt, by L. W. (Chip) Robert, while a second bale was bought by Fred Cockerell, cotton merchant, for Governor Richard B. Russell Jr. Both were tendered by purchasers to their favorite candidates for their respective war chests.

The Roosevelt bale, grown by J. L. and L. R. Turner, of near Meigs, and ginned by J. N. Carter & Co. of Meigs, at 2 o'clock Monday afternoon, brought 14 1-4 cents. The Russell bale, grown by J. D. and A. V. Cook, of Chula, and ginned at Tifton, brought 15 3-4 cents. Both bales reached Atlanta early Tuesday morning, and Savannah reported that Meigs had furnished another "first" bale grown by J. L. Pilcher and ginned at Meigs.

Governor Roosevelt was advised by wire of the Robert purchase by J. Hope Tigner, secretary of the Atlanta Commercial Exchange. Tigner wired Governor Russell.

Vassar Girl Vanishes From Fashionable Home

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Miss Fannie Turnbull, 19, a Vassar College student, today was reported missing from her fashionable Lake Forest home. She left a note addressed to her family, in which she said:

"I can't stand it any longer—feeling that I am a burden on you. I know you will forgive me for taking the car. Please don't try to follow me. I am going away where you will never find me."

Miss Turnbull is the daughter of Henry K. Turnbull, a real estate dealer.

G. O. P. 'WET-DRY' PLANK ENTERTAINING EUROPE

Nicholas Murray Butler Says
Economics and Prohibition
Are Intertwined.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, president of Columbia University, returned to America today on the liner Majestic with news that the republican party plank on prohibition "is the subject of no inconsiderable merriment and sarcasm" abroad.

In a four-page statement he discussed the "carriage and sword" of international peace, in whose interests he went to Europe, and the eighteenth amendment.

"It will be quite futile for any candidate, in the hope of conciliating any element of the population, to attempt to subordinate the repeal of the eighteenth amendment to the solution of the economic problems which press upon us all," he said.

"The two are inextricably intertwined. What possible means could prosperity have if we are to continue to undermine the constitution of the United States, to weaken the foundations of public and private morality and to turn into the pockets of the bootlegger the enormous sums which should be paid to the public treasury for the relief of the taxpayer?"

"Should not more than 15 states adopt an effective system of state liquor control such as prevails in the province of Quebec or in Sweden, and should rate of taxation be established not greater than that which now prevails in Great Britain, the lowest estimate is that one billion, five hundred million dollars would be available for the public treasury."

"Every interest of the American people requires the quick repeal of the eighteenth amendment and immediate action to bring about a restoration of prosperity through international co-operation in reference to intergovernmental war debts, through the removal of harmful restrictions upon trade due to tariff, quotas and administrative regulations, and through a prompt study of the pressing problems which grow out of the present gold supply and the way it has been used internationally since the war."

"The order will be sent to the penitentiary tomorrow. It provides that the freed man must go immediately to the home of his daughter, Mrs. Clara Axford, at Wheatland, Wyo., and must not return again to Virginia."

Should he return to this state or be found guilty of a law violation, the pardon will be revoked.

Dr. Chamberlain, whose murder trial was a front-page sensation in 1918, was notified of the governor's clemency today by James C. Page, former Goodland county commonwealth's attorney.

Eleven of twelve jurors who sentenced him to life imprisonment recommended clemency on the grounds that "on account of the time served and this man's age, the ends of justice have been met."

The commonwealth contended that the physician drove a wagon to his brother's modest cabin, hit him over the head with a cane and then choked him to death. He was charged with then hauling the body three miles to Dr. Chamberlain's home and there, after dismembering the body, burying it. The blood, the commonwealth contended, was buried in a rubber sheet, in order to remove all traces of the crime.

STUDENT SHOT, STRIKES GIRL CHASING ASSAILANT

TUSCALOOSA, Ala., July 26.—(AP) Marvin Knight, 23, University of Alabama student from Bronxville, N. Y., was in a critical condition today with a bullet wound in the neck received last night when he said he and his young woman companion were attacked in a "lovers lane" near here.

Knight told police he was shot by a negro who accosted him as he stood beside his parked automobile. His companion, whose name was withheld, was brought to a hospital and dismissed after receiving emergency treatment. Hospital attendants said she apparently had been struck by an automobile.

Knight said he was unconscious several minutes after being shot, and when he regained consciousness he found the negro scuffling with his companion. Being unarmed, he said, he got into the car and attempted to run down the highwayman and in doing so struck the young woman.

CHICAGO MAYOR PLANS EUROPEAN HOLIDAY

CHICAGO, July 26.—(AP)—Mayor Anton J. Cermak dropped his office duties today for a six-week trip to Europe in search of recreation and rest.

His health, impaired by struggles with the budget of this financially-stricken city and his duties as host to the recent political conventions, the mayor decided upon a trip to the baths at Carlsbad, to his native village of Kladno, in Czechoslovakia, and to the Italian villa of his friend, Paul V. Collini, a trustee of the Chicago sanitary district.

Close Wendel Kinship Is Claimed by Scot

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—A middle-aged Scot testified in surrogate's court that his mother was secretly married in Dundee, Scotland, to John Gottlieb Wendel, brother of the late Ella V. Von E. Wendel, and that he was the only child of that marriage.

The Scot, Thomas Patrick Norris, claims third-degree relationship to the late Ella Wendel by virtue of the alleged secret marriage, and the right to estate and other treatment ask for it by name: Thor's Vitamin Compound. It costs only 50c at all drug stores. Thor's Vitamin Compound, Atlanta.—(Ad.)

CAROLINA STRIKERS REFUSE MILLS' OFFER

HIGH POINT, N. C., July 26.—(AP) Conferences between 6,000 striking hosiery mill workers and officials of 24 plants regarding a wage readjustment ended in a stalemate here tonight.

Individual manufacturers today offered to take the strikers back to work at wages in effect before a cut that brought on a general walkout two weeks ago, but the central strike committee, authorized to act for the workers, refused.

Instead, the committee—vested with powers to act with finality—voted to offer to split the difference between demands of the workers and the offers of the mills.

Following a long and bitter session, at which the proposition was discussed, a definite cleavage appeared in the strikers' ranks and the final vote on the proposal to accept the manufacturers' offer ended in a tie. The matter then was tabled.

Farmer Exchanges Cow For Flying Instructor

PAWTUCKET, R. I., July 26.—(AP)—A farmer here had a surplus cow and a fervent desire to become an airplane pilot.

So he made a deal with officials of "What Cheer" airport. Now the airport has the cow, its aviators drink plenty of fresh milk, the grass on the runway is closely cropped and the farmer is getting six weeks of daily free lessons on how to fly.

the strikers' ranks and the final vote on the proposal to accept the manufacturers' offer ended in a tie. The matter then was tabled.

MACON COMPLETION NOW SET FOR SPRING

AKRON, Ohio, July 26.—(AP)—Completion of the U. S. S. Macon, twin sister of the Akron, world's largest airship, probably will be delayed several months because of efforts to stretch employment as much as possible, officials of the Goodyear-Zeppelin Corporation said today.

As a result the Macon, twin of the U. S. S. Akron, is not expected to be finished until early spring instead of midwinter as was planned.

Court Orders Payment Of Chicago Taxes

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., July 26.—(AP) A ruling which officials believe will have the effect of breaking a "strike" of Cook county (Chicago) taxpayers who have withheld payment of approximately $70,000,000 assessed on their property, was handed down by the state supreme court today.

The decision, in the case of Mrs. Lillian Cisar, ordered judgment for unpaid taxes of 1928 and 1929.

Mrs. Cisar was one of a protesting group of several thousand persons who had sponsored a test of the 1928-29 assessments.

Today's ruling authorized the Cook county treasury to take action against delinquent real estate immediately.

PEACHES AND MELONS
BELOW '31 PRODUCTIONBoth Have Brought Fair
Prices, Bureau of Markets Reports.

Georgia has shipped 1,044 cars of peaches and 7,603 cars of watermelons to date, Arthur D. Jones, director of the state bureau of markets, reported Tuesday.

Last year at this date Georgia had shipped 7,475 cars of peaches and 13,063 cars of melons, Jones said. Both peaches and melons, he said, have brought fair prices considering the quality of the crops and the financial condition of the country.

"The outlook," Jones said, "is that Georgia will not ship more than 1,500 cars of peaches this season, which will be the shortest crop this state has shipped within the past 30 years, with the exception of 1,145 cars in 1911 and 1,219 cars in 1913.

"This short crop is caused by two factors: First, the unusually mild and dry weather, and second, the extreme cold of the weather during March. The extremely mild winter with the lack of moisture left the trees in such a weakened condition that they could not withstand the cold. It not only shortened the crop, but killed many thousands of trees and

"49 Years of Underselling Atlanta"

Death of Dr. Vaughan
Deplored by Council

Atlanta council Tuesday afternoon overrode Mayor James L. Key's call limiting consideration of business to sewer relief matters, and passed resolutions of condolence in the death of Dr. Charles J. Vaughan, former fourth ward councilman.

The resolution was offered by Alderman Farris A. White and Joseph E. Berman, composing the fourth ward delegation, and although Mayor Pro Tem J. Charlie Murphy had ruled everything not germane to the call out of order, he permitted unanimous passage of the resolution.

Dr. Vaughan was at one time one of the strongest and most popular members of council.

Especially does this apply to the southern part of the belt.

"This year's crop of watermelons will be several thousand cars short of the usual season," he said. This was due to the excessive rains in south-west Georgia during the spring and to very dry and hot weather in other sections of the belt, which caused thousands of cars to be ruined.

Although prospects of poor cotton and tobacco crops are causing farmers in the Valdosta section to start fattening their live stock for their money crop this year, farmers in the vicinity of Cartersville report their cotton, sweet potato and corn crops are showing up better than usual.

Cotton in Bartow county is looking especially good as continued hot weather has made life uncomfortable for boll weevils and aided the staple. The mountain valley corn is showing up better than in many years past and some farmers expect around 100 bushels per acre from their sweet potatoes.

It is a different story in Lowndes county, where surplus stocks and ravages by the weevil have discouraged cotton growers. A 65 to 70 per cent reduction in the tobacco crop yield is expected.

Encouraged by higher prices for hogs and other stock, Lowndes county farmers are fattening their stock to get the animals in prime shape for the market.

DEPRESSION LAID TO FEAR OF PUBLIC
BY EUGENE BLACK

Public fear and panic and lack of trust on the part of the people were cited Tuesday by Governor Eugene R. Black, governor of the Federal Reserve of Atlanta, to be the main things now standing in the way of business recovery. Governor Black spoke before the weekly luncheon of the Atlanta Christian Club at the Atlanta Athletic Club.

Citing the relief measures that had been put into effect Governor Black added that "there can be no improvement in business conditions until commodity prices rise. The foundation of business is what is produced on the land."

Intimating that the country might now be emerging from the worst of its troubles and getting into a land where the sun shines, the governor said that the country now needed confidence.

Civilians recalled that it was Governor Black who predicted in October, 1929, ten days before the crash came, that the country was in for a period of hard business.

ELECTION-TIME APATHY
ASSAILED BY ANDERSONRotarians Told Businessmen Put Men in Office
They Wouldn't Employ.

Businessmen have been so busy making money during the last few years that they have been willing to turn over the government to a type of men they would not dream of employing in any responsible place in their business concerns, W. D. Anderson, president of the Elbow Manufacturing Company of Macon, told the Atlanta Rotary Club Tuesday.

The attitude of business management toward government was one of several elements Mr. Anderson cited as important requisites to successful management under present-day conditions.

The others he listed as the ability of a businessman to successfully manage himself, his capacity to manage his home, his attitude toward other business enterprises in his community and his relation to his community itself.

In speaking of the businessman's attitude toward government, Mr. Anderson said that for some time businessmen have been inclined to boast of a lack of interest in politics, whether local, state or national.

"Many of us have failed to register and to vote," he said, "is a shameful fact, but here in Georgia about 200,000 votes has been the maximum that has been cast in any election during the past decade."

"Many businessmen go hunting or fishing on election day, or else plan to start a business trip because it is election day and business is likely to be slack."

"Government is a big business, and successful government must be managed by capable businessmen. I remind you again that you have elected as aldermen, county commissioners, legislators, congressmen and senators men you would not deem fit for any place of responsibility in your own business enterprise."

Mississippi Ends Life.

MERIDIAN, Miss., July 26.—(AP) Police today reported the suicide of Lott Monroe Leguin, 65, who died at a local hospital shortly after swallowing poison. Officers said Leguin had been in ill health for some time.

SCOUT GIFFORD WINS
FOUR HONORS AT CAMP

Scout John Gifford, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Gifford, qualified Tuesday at the Best Adams Scout camp for all four honor degrees of the camp, covering a total of 30 different accomplishments and became the first boy in the Atlanta council of Boy Scouts to attain the degree. He is an Eagle Scout of Troop 16, of the Druid Hills Baptist church.

C. L. Adams, assistant Scout executive of the council, in making the announcement, said that young Gifford found it necessary to pass eight tests to reach the degree of Tenderfoot; nine additional to reach the Arrow degree; 10 additional to reach the Warrior degree and 12 more to attain the Campfire degree—or 39 in all.

Included in requirements to reach the Campfire degree was a 200-word essay on camp life and competency in swimming, craftsmanship and other activities of a summer Scout camp.

BERMAN WINS DECISION
IN 'LIVE' PARKING CASE

Councilman Joseph E. Berman, maker city ordinances, had a brush Tuesday with the ordinance-enforcing branch of the city government and came out the winner.

Berman appeared before Police Recorder A. W. Callaway on a non-parking charge brought by Patrolman Carl Maddox. On Berman's contention that the city ordinance allow a motorist to engage in "live" parking for the taking on or discharge of passengers, Recorder Callaway dismissed the case. Berman was parked by the First National Bank building, where he has his office, when the case was made, it was said.

"Government is a big business, and successful government must be managed by capable businessmen. I remind you again that you have elected as aldermen, county commissioners, legislators, congressmen and senators men you would not deem fit for any place of responsibility in your own business enterprise."

HOME OWNERS SEEK
DATA ON U. S. LOANS

Senatorial Offices Reply to Flood of Queries From Georgians.

BY GLADSTONE WILLIAMS.
WASHINGTON, July 26.—Home owners from all over the state of Georgia are deluging the offices of Senators George and Cohen with mail and telegraph inquiries as to how loans are to be obtained under the federal home loan bank act.

As the board of directors of the new banking system have not yet been named by President Hoover, the office of Senators George and Cohen are advising all interested parties that until an organization has been perfected and administration of the law started, no loans can be advanced to prospective borrowers.

Senator George is absent from Washington and Senator Cohen is leaving tomorrow for Atlanta. Their offices, however, are promptly answering all communications coming from constituents.

No intimation has come from the White House as to when President Hoover will name the personnel of the board, and until the board has been named and organized, location of the bank branch centers, which will number from eight to 12 throughout the country, cannot be designated.

It is expected that bankers in Georgia as well as in other states soon will be asking authorization from the comptroller of the currency to issue new currency as provided under the Borah-Glass amendment to the home bank law.

Comptroller of the Currency Pole said this morning that he would give out no information as to what banks are authorized to issue the new currency, or the names of banks that have or will apply for permission to issue the new currency.

Unemployment Riot.

ST. JOHN'S Newfoundland, July 26.—(AP)—Several hundred unemployed men rioted in the streets early this morning, pillaging shops and smashing windows before police could get the disorder in hand.

Two policemen were injured and 18 of the rioters were arrested.

$11,000-Week Contract
Hinted for Greta Garbo

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Greta Garbo is coming back.

The Swedish actress said so today when she gave an interview after a mysterious vanishing act in the largest city in the world.

Would she return to America after her vacation?

"Yes, I will."

Was she planning to continue her screen career?

"Yes, I am."

"Please go away," she asked after that.

Later she had a conference with her attorneys and it was understood she had come to an agreement for a new contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. It was said her new contract called for $11,000 a week.

ST. PETE TO OPERATE
OWN POWER PLANTS

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., July 26.—(AP)—St. Petersburg's municipally-owned power plant will remain open.

Stating that extensive tests have shown that the city can make electric current cheaper than it can buy it, City Manager Wilbur M. Cotton has advised the council he has dropped negotiations with the Florida Power Corporation for purchase of current for street lighting and operation of the municipal railways.

Station Approved.

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—Britt A. Rogers Jr. today was given tentative permission by the radio commission to erect a broadcasting station at Tupelo, Miss., to operate on 900 kilocycles and 500 watts power. Heretofore this channel has been assigned to WBZ-WBZA of Boston.

BASMENT

BREAK of the DAY

By Ralph McGill

On Good Authority I've Heard:

Present owners of the Atlanta Crackers, who had to assume obligations of about a half million dollars, will play a return engagement next season and are even now getting ready. Interest on the debts, it is said, plus the poor baseball year, prevented any expansion. (It has been scientifically proved that a man cannot expand even his chest when he owes a half million dollars.)

David Irenus (Red) Barron can also play a return engagement if he cares to. And he likely will. One year of experience in the hardest school of them all will make the red head's path much smoother.

Joseph Engel visited Santa Claus in Washington and started the wheels rolling so that when Christmas comes to the Chattanooga baseball club and fans on August 6 a new pitcher, a new catcher and another player for any position needing one will be delivered pronto. The charge will then begin on Pennant Hill, a position the Lookouts haven't occupied since 1896. (When you and I were young, Maggie.)

Joe Jordan, the Memphis heavyweight who knocked out Battling Bozo in two or three seconds of your valuable time, is to be sent into New York for some handling by one of the experts up there, Jimmy Bronson by name. Jordan has won 10 fights and lost one. Jimmy Bronson will polish him up so he won't get polished off.

Over in Memphis they anger the Lookouts no little by insisting the Lookouts have a much better team than the Chicks but aren't as game. All of which burns the Lookouts to a cinder but to date they haven't done so much with it.

Coach William Alexander of Georgia Tech has been around to the movie studio in Hollywood where the movie, "All-American," will be filmed and they told him he looked great for his part. Coach "Ellick" looks like one of those strong, silent men from the wide open spaces. Like as not he will be offered a contract when the movie is done. But he will hurry right back home to his coaching.

When Miss Louisa Robert went to Long Island to practice for her Olympic test she swam in water which was 20 degrees colder than that here. Coaches who saw her said she had perfect form and needed only a little coaching on her take-off and turns to become a real champion. Her greatest thrill was not so much in winning but in meeting all the stars she'd hero-worshipped so long.

That loan, which the Cotton States League sought from the major leagues, was for $15,000, a mere $7,500 from each circuit. The American League was willing but the National refused to extend that much help. So the circuit crushed.

Bat Bozo, the Birmingham pug who was one reason "Pa" Stribling's hair turned to silver, is likely to be set down by the boxing commission of Birmingham, with national affiliations, because he won't listen to Jay (Jazzbo) Thomas, who was appointed by Pa Stribling to handle the weird one during "Pa's" absence in Australia. Bozo won't play. Which is a contract violation.

Pa Stribling writes that things are good in Australia and New Zealand which isn't so far away. And that he named a pet kangaroo "Battling Bozo" because the kangaroo jumped around like the Birmingham clown.

Small fight clubs are doing well just outside the jurisdiction of the boxing commission so as to escape that tax. They are operating with prices trimmed below the government tax and are packing them in each week. During the boom days the small clubs wouldn't draw. Because they tried to charge big club prices.

Eight players have been beamed, but none seriously hurt as yet, in the major leagues during the past two months. Most players, who have been beamed, are plate shy for several weeks. Yet there are some who defend the bean ball as a perfectly ethical bit of pitching strategy instead of a cruel and brutal weapon which has caused several deaths.

Mildred Dridikon, the Texas girl who won a national team championship all by herself, wants to be called "Tex" Dridikon now instead of "Babe." She will enter three events in the Olympic games and is a favorite to win them all.

Jay (Jazzbo) Thomas is spending a few days at Jimmy Jones' apartment while Mrs. Jones visits relatives in Chicago. And Jay Jazzbo's amateur boxers and beauty contest entries start calling at 6 a. m. in the yawning which is driving James Jones crazy.

Those orderly young businessmen from Chattanooga who kicked Red Barron in the ribs have fixed it so the Cracker manager will not play for some time, probably not this year. He will spend the next month looking at new players and learning some more about his job so he will be ready next season.

That feud between Gunboat Smith, the referee, and Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, who lost his title in the Sharkey match which Smith refereed, dates back to several years ago. Smith tossed Jacobs out of the old Garden when Jacobs was a no-body in the fight business. Who would have dreamed he would later handle the champion?

Rel J. Spiller is peddling his spring water in uptown locations and doing well. This makes up for the loss he is taking in concessions. Which business he knows better than you and you.

When some of the alumni got hot after Dan McGugin, the Vanderbilt coach, because his team lost some games, THE MAN WHO CAN DO IT said, "Mr. McGugin, if you leave I think I will abolish football."

Duster (The Great) Mails, the Chattanooga southpaw, tried to get in as manager of the Crackers. But didn't get that far.

Southern Hard Hitters Dog Hamel's Footsteps

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 26.—(P)—Harry Welchance in winning the Southern batting leadership two times, Welchance led in 1922 while playing with Nashville and stood first a year later with Atlanta.

In addition to equalling Welchance's mark of taking two titles, Clabough also has an opportunity of duplicating Welchance's feat of annexing the crown two successive years.

Bigelow, who holds the modern record for the highest average in a season—.385, made while playing for Birmingham in 1923 also has been runner-up twice, last year and in 1927. Hill of Nashville, who won the 1902 honors, is far out in front, however, with his .416 average.

Hutchinson won in 1930. His average now is .345 as compared with .340 for Bigelow. Others who are threatening to equal Hamel for this year's crown are Reese of Memphis, and Ross, Bolton and Bonowitz of Chattanooga, all within 30 points of the Indian batsman.

CRACKERS BEAT SMOOKIES, 5 TO 4, IN FIRST GAME

Atlanta Scores Two in Eighth and One in Ninth To Win.

By Jimmy Jones.

A couple of old-fashioned heavyweights, Bill Boz and John (Jumbo) Chapman, figured in the final cast of a see-saw ball game last night at Ponce de Leon park when the Atlanta Crackers finished off the last inning, receiving the credit for the victory, his fourth since joining the Crackers, against no defeat.

There were other heavyweights in the news, too, since the plump Bernie Neis, Smokie manager, ambled out of the dugout in the ninth to chide Bill Brennan on his decision on Bigelow's out at first and Bill immediately wagged Bernie out of the ball game. Thus the heavyweights stole the show entirely.

The Crackers were nursing a 4-2 margin going into the last inning, the same being earned when Duke McKee, an improving ball player, batted for Little, who first out almost knocked Bill Boz with a whistling line drive at the box, but the big pitcher recovered to throw him out at first.

Neis thought so. He mentioned it to Bill Brennan and the latter, exhibiting more spirit than an umpire has shown here, took control, right down Bernie's throat, shaking an indignant finger under his nose. In an instant Bernie was seen waddling into the locker room, where Chapman, who had been in the game, was waiting for him.

The teams played again tonight at 8 o'clock. Thursday's is a day game.

Knockout, which was a day game, was a 10-inning affair, with the Crackers winning 5 to 4. Chapman, who had been in the game, was waiting for him.

DUESENBERG, 55, Track, Field Stars Increase Activities

American Boxers Are Hard at Work; Ben Eastman Is Odds-On Coast Favorite.

By Stuart Cameron, United Press Sports Editor.

LOS ANGELES, July 26.—(UP)—America's track and field stars along with those of 48 other competing nations in the tenth Olympiad increased activities today as time for opening of the games approached.

Much of the American activity centered on the boxing team which was given increased roadwork preparatory to the start of final ring practices. Meantime the track squad continued turns at Boward field.

Ben Eastman, blond and be-spectacled sprinting star, came to town today, registered with Dan Ferris at Olympic village, and went over to Boward field. He was defeated by Bill Carr, Pennsylvania flyer, in the final 400 meters try-outs, but despite this setback he is an odds-on local favorite to win in the games.

With Eastman's arrival the American Olympic representation became almost complete, with only a scattering few qualifiers not yet quartered in Olympic villages.

Ticket sales increased today insuring an all-time high attendance at an Olympic games opening ceremony. A crowd of 28,700 saw the parade of nations at Amsterdam in 1928. A capacity attendance of 105,000 is expected when Vice President Curtis signals the beginning of the Olympic march of nearly 2,000 amateur athletes in Olympic stadium Saturday.

Olympic officials reported only 20,000 tickets for the opening ceremony remained unsold tonight. Tickets to the final swimming events already have been sold out.

The ceremonial phase of the games was started today when the flags of the 49 nations competing were hoisted on standards near the Olympic village, the beginning of the Olympic games, the remaining nine Olympic countries which are not represented this year were then run up.

BEAUTIFUL PLACE. The Olympic village is a beautiful place. Situated atop a series of hills in the southeast section of Los Angeles. There is a central administration building, a large dining hall, a large hall of residence, and a large hall of residence. On either side of a semi-circle is a series of connected cottages which house telegraph stations and small shops.

This hall of residence of cottages is all that the casual Olympic visitor sees close at hand. Nobody crashes the gates, although thousands, almost hourly, are refused permission to enter.

The village proper consists in the main of a series of detached cottages which house the athletes.

VON GRONAU ENDS HOP TO MONTREAL

German and Companions Make 5,100-Mile Flight in Four and Half Days.

MONTREAL, July 26.—(AP)—The veteran German aviator, Captain Wolfgang von Gronau, landed his flying boat in Montreal harbor tonight at 7:06 p. m., eastern standard time, completing his third 5,100-mile aerial trip between Europe and America by the arctic route in four and a half days.

Civil and aviation delegations met the bronzed German and his three companions at the airport where he was taxied up after a 10-hour and 16-minute flight from Cartwright, Labrador.

In the absence of announcements, it was understood that Captain von Gronau planned to proceed from Montreal around the world this year, since gasoline has arrived at Prince Rupert, British Columbia, for his use. This would mean he planned to take Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh's route across northern Canada to Alaska and proceed down Kamchatka peninsula to Japan.

Pending a check, Captain von Gronau's flying time from List, Isle of Sylt, Germany, was not revealed, but it was believed to have compared well with his 1890 time, when he reached New York in 7 hours.

Last year he made a similar flight from Germany to Chicago. His route in all three flights has been approximately the same.

Captain von Gronau flew from Germany across in two hops. From Reykjavik, Iceland, he proceeded to Igloolik, Greenland, in two jumps. Then came 600 miles across Davis straits and down the coast of Labrador to Cartwright.

The captain was accompanied by Gert von Roth, co-pilot; Franz Kack, mechanic, and Fritz Albrecht, wireless operator.

DICK REYNOLDS BEGINS TRIP BACK TO STATES

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Pan-American Airways announced today that Richard J. Reynolds Jr., older brother of Smith Reynolds, of Winston-Salem, N. C., who was shot to death by "a party or parties unknown" recently, will probably arrive in the United States a week from Thursday.

The aviation company was informed that Richard Reynolds, who was on a cruise when his brother was killed, had sailed yesterday from T. kara, West Africa, on one of the French light cruisers which carry mail from South America.

The cruiser will arrive at Natal, Brazil, Thursday or Friday, and Reynolds should reach the Pan-American plane which leaves there Sunday and reaches Miami the following Thursday.

Conn. Tax Delinquents Given 15 Years to Pay

HARTFORD, Conn., July 26.—(AP)—While many states are ordering sheriff's sales of tax delinquent property, Connecticut is extending to needy real estate owners 15 years in which to pay their assessments.

For the property owner unable to pay his state tax, Commissioner William Blodgett said, Connecticut laws are less stringent than those of many other commonwealths.

Whereas most states set one year as the limit for payment, Connecticut has fixed the maximum at two years. Interest for delinquent taxes is three-fourths of 1 per cent a month, and there are no penalties.

Only a few property owners, however, have taken advantage of the 15-year provision, and the rate of collections has been high.

MRS. A. J. MAYFIELD DIES IN COLLEGE PARK

Mrs. A. J. Mayfield, 77, for many years a prominent church and charity worker in Atlanta and College Park, died early Tuesday morning at her residence at 211 East Yale street.

Funeral services are to be held at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon at the College Park Methodist church.

A native of Watkinson, Ga., Mrs. Mayfield had been a resident of Atlanta and College Park for the last 35 years. She was extremely active in church work and was a member of the College Park Methodist church.

Surviving are her husband; three sons, A. R. and H. E. Mayfield, of Atlanta, and Dr. George R. Mayfield, of Nashville, Tenn.; and three daughters, Mrs. John Davis and Mrs. C. M. Neal, of Atlanta, and Mrs. D. W. Braswell, of Tifton, Ga. Harry G. Poole & Co. are in charge.

'Ma' Ferguson's Lead Mounts to 93,000

DALLAS, Texas, July 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Miriam "Ma" Ferguson continued to dominate the struggle for the democratic gubernatorial nomination, today as late returns from Saturday's primary increased her lead over Governor R. S. Sterling.

Running for re-election, Governor Sterling, however, expressed confidence he would win in the run-off primary next month, just as he did two years ago, when he ran behind in the first primary.

The democratic nomination is equivalent to election of the governor. Today's figures showed Mrs. Ferguson had accumulated 340,658 votes to 253,419 for Sterling.

In three weeks, the primary will be held. It is estimated that the vote will be divided between the offices at Nashville and Little Rock.

There were 40,611 scattered votes for five other candidates.

Proposed submission to the states of the question of repeal or retention of the eighteenth amendment was approved 301,393 to 120,080.

U. S. Pays Compliment To Memphis Business

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 26.—(AP)—Business in the Memphis territory has been paid a compliment that means something.

The local office of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, established last February, will be closed August 15—because so few banks and other firms entitled to borrow have asked for loans.

In making the announcement yesterday, W. R. Herstein, president of the Memphis Chamber of Commerce, said that "the amount of federal relief required in the office's territory has been very small and in the opinion of authorities at Washington, does not justify its separate existence. A note of commendation to the general public is sounded in this direct evidence of stability in the Memphis territory."

Work of the office will be divided between the offices at Nashville and Little Rock.

DYING OF POISON, HUSBAND SMILES AT WIFE'S CONCERN

LOS ANGELES, Cal., July 26.—(AP)—Mrs. Roscoe Griffith telephoned a hospital that her husband, a veterinarian, had swallowed an ounce of poison.

Police and hospital attendants found Griffith calmly eating dinner, while his wife fluttered about the table, wringing her hands.

"He's dying," she implored. "He said he was tired of living."

Griffith smiled easily, and had a deprecatory shrug for his wife's alarm. "She is mistaken, gentlemen," he said between bites. "I have taken no poison. I am a busy man. I have an appointment in a little while, and I won't go with you."

But they took him anyway. He walked from the ambulance to the hospital entrance.

There he fell dead.

Crump Offers $10,000 For "Trade" Evidence

MEMPHIS, Tenn., July 26.—(AP)—Reopening his long distance controversy with Senator Borah, Idaho republican, Representative E. H. Crump tonight offered $10,000 for any proof that the Memphis political organization has traded government flour for votes.

Senator Borah recently refused to apologize to the Shelby county democratic political leader for making public letters received from Memphis accusing the Crump organization of directing the distribution of the flour. Senator Borah declared he felt the charges "justified," although an investigation for the National Red Cross reported the accusations were unfounded.

The letters were sent from the local chapters of the Loyal Order of Americans.

"If you ignore or decline to accept the offer I have made to good faith," Crump today wrote Borah, "you may as well prepare to stand before the American people as a despicable wretch, wholly devoid of honesty in spirit and deed, possessing no traits of genuineness, a demagogic gallery player with a one-purpose mind for publicity, unworthy to longer retain the respect of your fellowman."

LEADERS MOBILIZE FOR EXPENSE WAR

Economy Aim Sanctioned by Hoover, Roosevelt; Maddox on Board.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(AP)—Six of America's foremost men have accepted leadership of the National Economy League's war on waste in government which was declared today with formal sanction of President Hoover and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Calvin Coolidge, Alfred E. Smith, Elihu Root, Newton D. Baker, General John J. Pershing and Admiral William S. Sims comprise a national advisory council of the league, formed to guide its fight against alleged excessive payments to veterans and mounting government costs.

These six will be no mere "figureheads," the league announced, but will serve in active capacity as advisors and leaders.

A vehement plea by President Hoover for a national group to defend Congress in withstanding "swarms of lobbyists" was read before men from 30 states assembled to organize the movement.

"The pressures upon governments to spend money are ceaseless," the message said, "and no intermittent protests will stem the tide. Swarms of lobbyists are organized behind every form of expenditure, and no organized group exists to check them."

Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic nominee for president, said "the democratic platform is clear in its declaration in favor of government economy, and also in what it says in return to adequate care for war disabled veterans who have suffered disability or disease from actual service in time of war or their dependents."

Immediate objective of the league is to pare off some $432,000,000 in payments to veterans, most of which it is claimed are collected for disabilities not suffered through war service.

The roster of names in the movement is a distinguished "who's who" from both political parties, the army, navy and civilian life.

An executive committee of 16 was selected. Its members included Robert F. Maddox, chairman of the executive committee of the First National bank, Atlanta, Ga.

BRIG. GEN. KILBOURNE GOES TO GENERAL STAFF

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(AP)—The war department today announced a change in the army general staff the last of August when Brigadier General Joseph P. Tracy will be succeeded by Brigadier General Charles E. Kilbourne, who for the past two years has been in command of the coast defense at Manila.

General Tracy, who will take command of Fort Monroe, Va., is being relieved of the staff assignment under a regulation providing that an officer may not serve on the general staff unless he has had two years with troops of the previous six years' service. It was explained at the department General Tracy's staff assignment thus originally was for only a short time.

He was assistant commandant at the Army War College here for approximately a year before going on the general staff, and prior to that service was on staff assignment in the Philippines for two years up until about a year and a half ago.

General Tracy filled the vacancy made on the general staff when Brigadier General George S. Simonds was named adviser to the American delegation to the Geneva arms conference, several months ago. General Simonds will be in command of the war college upon his return to Washington.

Tilson, Disappointed in Congress, Announces Retirement From Office

WASHINGTON, July 26.—(UP)—Representative John Q. Tilson, veteran republican, has made his last speech in the house.

Through an "extension of remarks" in the Congressional Record today, the former party leader in the house announced not only that he would not run for re-election, but that he would not return for the short session in December to close a distinguished career.

Congress is not in session. It was a mythical Tilson and a mythical speaker who performed this parting ceremony.

But one could almost see the tall, handsome figure, so long familiar about congress, rise from his place and address the house, as one read his swan-song in the record, which began, in the accustomed manner—

"Mr. Tilson—Mr. Speaker—It was a dramatic and to Tilson's congressional career, which began as a humble house member from Connecticut 17 years ago, rose to the heights of floor leader, and at the beginning of this session suddenly toppled when Representative Bertrand H. Snell, New York, defeated him for the republican nomination for speaker. Snell subsequently was defeated by John N. Garner, democrat, for this place, and became party floor leader succeeding Tilson."

Tilson chose the last issue of the Congressional Record to announce his retirement. It was in the form of a speech, sandwiched among other speeches which senators and representatives had written either for home consumption or to explain their position on issues.

The Connecticut leader, a native of Tennessee, had not been happy since his defeat by Snell. He gave up his committee when he became floor leader, and had no assigned work to do in a house over which he once had great influence.

He would have had to begin at the bottom of committees, like a freshman congressman, and he did not choose to do that. Sort of a lonely figure, he would "wander" into the house and take a seat among the rank and file. Occasionally, he would participate in the debate.

Some of his disappointment was reflected in his final speech today. "If the service I might reasonably expect to render here during the next few years appeared to be of importance comparable to that I had the privilege of rendering during the last three congresses under republican control, I should still deem it my duty to stay here just as long as my own people approve," he said.

Making this decision at this time does not necessarily mean that I am permanently retiring from the public service," he said. "That will depend upon circumstances as they may develop."

Tilson carries a title of "colonel" from service in the Spanish-American War and on the Mexican border in 1916.

THE OTHER THREE LEADING BRANDS TO THIS
SCIENTIFIC TEST OF CIGARETTE QUALITY

You three old-time cigarette brands are very proud of your cigarettes. You have a right to be! Your cigarettes are mighty good.

Each of you, quite naturally, thinks his cigarette is best. You say: "MY cigarette is Milder!" "It's Fresher!" "Kinder!" And so on.

But don't you think you might give Mr. and Mrs. John K. Smoker a little proof?

OLD GOLD begs to suggest that you have any of the great technical universities test your cigarette against OLD GOLD . . . for heat content . . . using the Calorimeter method approved by scientists throughout the world.

Coolness, as you veterans know, is a clue to cigarette quality. It indicates the choicest, purest tobacco. So how about a little cool test?

Maybe you suspect that we know OLD GOLD will win. We don't deny it. This "cool" test* of 4 leading brands has already been made 75 times . . . and OLD GOLD won consistently.

Old Man Science plays no favorites. It's merit that counts with him. He has found the finer and purer tobacco quality of OLD GOLD, just as he tells the purity of pure gold!

NOT A COUGH IN A CARLOAD

*The Verdict of Science

This is to certify that in 75 repeated cool tests made of the 4 leading cigarette brands . . . measuring the heat content of each cigarette in B. T. U./lb. with the Oxygen Bomb Calorimeter, it was shown that:

Old Gold averages 112 B. T. U's. Cooler than Brand X
Old Gold averages 155 B. T. U's. Cooler than Brand Y
Old Gold averages 156 B. T. U's. Cooler than Brand Z

Tests of the heat of the smoke showed Old Gold smoke definitely cooler than that of the other brands.

INSTALLMENT XXIII.

Tony had been a bit uncertain about meeting Montieu when she stopped at the studio for her sketch. He would resent her taking the day off when he was so rushed. She was surprised and reassured to find him almost effusive about her holiday.

"It will do well for your appetite, petite," he said, rubbing his hands and regarding her with twinkling eyes. "You will come back refreshed. My regards to Monsieur Kemp. Such a day—for the amount of rest as pass?"

How silly of Montieu! Amour! But then he was French. The French think only of love and of dollars. Tony packed up her sketch and hurried back to the car. Surprised glances, thinly veiled envy of the woman in the studio, strange, her running away like this made her uncomfortable. It was when there was so much work to be done. Oh well, she would make up for it tomorrow, early and late.

Donald Kemp drove well, as he did everything well. With a steady hand. With surety and with ease. They would be out of the city soon. Already towering apartment houses began to straggle into suburbs. There were open spaces with brown grass, clumps of trees and bushes waving naked arms in the mild winter wind.

"Is it far, The Port of Missing Men?" she asked.

"Fifty miles, unless you would like something nearer."

"Oh, no. Fifty miles will be just a hop, skip and jump. On a day like this I could do with 500 miles." She lifted. Miles, hours of skimming the road, wind pressing against cheeks, the sun hanging a golden scarf around shoulders. There's a woods! A real woods. But there are rabbits hiding in it, and squirrels keeping house upstairs. Wish we could walk in it, feel the leaves, soft under our feet, and smell the mould. Maybe there's a woods where we're going.

"Your cheeks are red as the berries on that barberry hedge," Kemp told her. "If half an hour of outdoors will do this for you, what will a whole day do? You see I was right about the car. You need to get away from the steady grind."

She said, thoughtfully:

"It does make a difference. I feel years younger and pounds lighter." She was not going to chide the holiday spirit with arguments about the car. She could tell Donald Kemp later that she would rather not use it. He would understand. Just as now he understood that long stretches of silence were grateful to her. She was positively greedy about soaking in every detail of the country through which they were passing. That white house on the knoll was not unlike her home in Centerville except for the blue shutters. She would like to see the peach orchard on the right in bloom. Maybe in the spring she could come here with her drawing-board.

After a while Tony had drunk her fill of air and landscape. Kemp sensed as much and drifted into conversation.

"Funny how human beings crowd into given space, burrow and pack tier on tier, when there's this. I do it myself and for the life of me I don't know why."

Tony nodded. "When my dreams come true I'm going to have a white cottage with a stone fence around it on a hillside just like that one ahead."

He gave her a swift, a penetrating glance.

"How about that Georgian house, red brick with the white trimmings and the wide terraces to our left. You just can see it through the park of trees it centers."

"I'd like the cottage better. Besides, I'd have to wait so long for the brick house I'd be too old to enjoy it. Designers aren't paid very well unless they're good and I haven't showed anything yet that makes me think I'm more than mediocre."

Why did the teases along the edge of his jaw relax? Certainly he wanted to succeed. He had asked her to bring her sketch.

He said: "You've never told me much about your dreams."

Tony laughed. "Um, it was good to be alive to dream."

"True, enough," she admitted. "I haven't. I'm afraid they wouldn't sound very worth while to you. Just the little white cottage, with the stone wall, and lots of fascinating sketches to keep me busy."

"Then there is no one sharing the dream cottage with you?" His jaw was tense again, waiting for her answer.

"No one." She could say as much in all the world. A week ago, it would have been different. A lean brown somebody would have been in her dream cottage; she would be at the window, watching for the first glimpse of his tallness, of his dearsness.

Kemp slowed the car to light a cigarette. Her answer, apparently satisfied, was to drop in for occasional visits.

"As often as you like, I'll even ask you for the shooting, if you'll promise not to shoot anything. You see the cottage is going to be far, in the hills, at the edge of a forest."

"Splendid, I'll be looking forward to the shooting season. And I'll leave the white cottage with the stone wall, and lots of fascinating sketches to keep me busy."

They were getting farther back into the hills now. The road twisted and turned, describing sharp S curves, precipitous down grades or climbs. When you rounded a hill-top, Tony thought, you felt as if the car were shooting out from under you. You were a bird, riding on air, making breathless swoops into space and rising again swiftly. What a delicious sensation.

Tony couldn't remember exactly how it happened. They had rounded a hill, the engine started to purr down a steep grade and suddenly the car stopped. The sign warning of a curve had been knocked or blown down. She felt the car leave the road, heard Donald Kemp's cry, "Hold right!" He stepped on the gas. The car swerved. Even then they would have been safe but for a heavy body that came hurtling toward them in the road. "For God's sake hold!" Kemp shouted and threw his strength to twisting the steering wheel. There was a drumming in Tony's ears. She was being catapulted into space. Impact. Darkness.

When Tony came back from the void she did not open her eyes. A lassitude was upon her. She would rather not move. She would lie still and hover on the borderline of oblivion. Now she was sinking, up to her eyes almost in featherly nothingness. No, she was coming back. That in her wrist brought her back.

"Tony!" She ought to open her eyes, see who was calling her. Easier to sink. Down and down. "Oh my sweet, I feel some water. Use my hat. There's a stream down there, on the far side of the road. Tony, sweet, if you've come to harm..."

She could not sink. Not with that plea beating against her. She opened her eyes. Why was this man bending over her? What was he doing? His face blurred. Tom. A trickle of water on her face. U-u-gh, it was cold. Drops of ice. Now her vision was clearing. She could distinguish the outlines of the man's face. His features were coarsening.

"I don't think she's badly hurt. She must have tried to break the fall with her hand. Hold the arm in place. I'll bandage the wrist so it doesn't swell. Easy now."

He pressed her teeth, her lips tightly together so a moan would not escape them. What had happened? She was having a holiday, riding on a rolling-coaster, flying with Donald Kemp. A great dark body of water toward them. The moan escaped after all.

"Tony, darling, you're safe. You're fine. Tony. Just the shock. There, that will ease your wrist. Now then, how about opening your eyes? Don't try to sit up. Rest a while."

Donald Kemp had taken charge of her. She was all right, or would be all right as soon as this wildness passed.

"Did I do it, the juggernaut in the road?" Her lips were stiff and cold.

Kemp's arm, under her head, raising her ever so gently.

"Yes, dear. We managed to dodge it."

NEW YORK, July 26.—(P)—The bond market hesitated for a time today, under a barrage of profit-taking, but resumed its steady forward march when offerings, at minor resales dwindled to a minimum.

The railroads, as a whole, provided the best performance of the day, although all specialties showed the greatest individual gains. The industrials and utilities generally followed a narrow range and modest advances out-numbered declines.

Trading gained in volume near the close of today's proceedings and total sales of $11,824,000, par value, were slightly under those of yesterday. The average for 60 selected securities gained four-tenths of a point.

Outside of the maintenance of better sentiment for most classes of securities, obligations, there was little trade or industrial news that had any bearing on the list. German bonds again advanced following the lifting by the marshall law in Berlin and Brandenburg.

While a number of the railroads gave ground, substantial gains were recorded by some issues, Kansas City Southern, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central, among others.

Richfield Oil Co. and Pan-American Petroleum Co. led the oil producing group with gains of around 7 points each. Strength was also shown by shares of Shell Union, Houston and Sinclair.

United States government loans firmed in light trading.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The general stock market today hesitated in its upward movement due to the development of profit-taking and sales and the renewal of selling by professional bears who have been fighting the recovery.

Trading continued at its recent peak volume, but price fluctuations moved within a narrow range. Professionals interpreted the smaller price range as an indication that the general list is now consolidating its recent appreciation.

Selling by professional bears was confined to a number of the pivotal issues in which they have been active recently without any success.

In view of the unfavorable statement of earnings published late today by the United States Steel Corporation, it is expected that bear operators will make additional efforts tomorrow to depress the general market.

The failure of the share market to continue forward also was attributed to a general disposition on the part of traders to wait for action on the dividend of the preferred stock of United States Steel. The regular disbursement was ordered paid following the expression of the market.

Announcement of the regular dividend of the Street was received by the market as an expression of hope for the future of the corporation, and industrial leaders who compose the corporation's directorate.

Some doubt, however, as to the ability of the corporation to continue paying the full preferred dividend was aroused by the further decrease of $20,452,173 in operations reported for the second quarter of this year before making allowances for the preferred dividend disbursement.

Myron C. Taylor, a statement said that, in view of the large drain on cash and resources, future improvement will depend upon business improvement.

RAILS LESS ACTIVE.

Railroad shares as a whole showed less activity today, but price fluctuations were due to the poor showing made by earnings for the month of June, which are now being published.

The first 20 roads reporting for that month show a decrease in net operating revenue of 67.3 per cent compared with the same month last year.

Consolidated Oil.

Oil shares continued active, with Consolidated Oil a feature with a new top price for this movement, which shows an appreciation of 100 per cent on quoted market value since the early part of June.

The turnover in Consolidated Oil was unusually heavy and it developed that much of the activity is due to a prominent operator. The Street is of the opinion that this is a relation to the efforts being made by Consolidated to purchase the Richfield Oil through an exchange of stock, as a substantial increase in the price of Consolidated Oil stock undoubtedly would be an inducement to the shareholders of Richfield Oil.

NEW YORK, July 26.—The general stock market today hesitated in its upward movement due to the development of profit-taking and sales and the renewal of selling by professional bears who have been fighting the recovery.

Trading continued at its recent peak volume, but price fluctuations moved within a narrow range. Professionals interpreted the smaller price range as an indication that the general list is now consolidating its recent appreciation.

Selling by professional bears was confined to a number of the pivotal issues in which they have been active recently without any success.

In view of the unfavorable statement of earnings published late today by the United States Steel Corporation, it is expected that bear operators will make additional efforts tomorrow to depress the general market.

The failure of the share market to continue forward also was attributed to a general disposition on the part of traders to wait for action on the dividend of the preferred stock of United States Steel. The regular disbursement was ordered paid following the expression of the market.

Announcement of the regular dividend of the Street was received by the market as an expression of hope for the future of the corporation, and industrial leaders who compose the corporation's directorate.

Some doubt, however, as to the ability of the corporation to continue paying the full preferred dividend was aroused by the further decrease of $20,452,173 in operations reported for the second quarter of this year before making allowances for the preferred dividend disbursement.

Myron C. Taylor, a statement said that, in view of the large drain on cash and resources, future improvement will depend upon business improvement.

RAILS LESS ACTIVE.

Railroad shares as a whole showed less activity today, but price fluctuations were due to the poor showing made by earnings for the month of June, which are now being published.

The first 20 roads reporting for that month show a decrease in net operating revenue of 67.3 per cent compared with the same month last year.

Consolidated Oil.

Oil shares continued active, with Consolidated Oil a feature with a new top price for this movement, which shows an appreciation of 100 per cent on quoted market value since the early part of June.

The turnover in Consolidated Oil was unusually heavy and it developed that much of the activity is due to a prominent operator. The Street is of the opinion that this is a relation to the efforts being made by Consolidated to purchase the Richfield Oil through an exchange of stock, as a substantial increase in the price of Consolidated Oil stock undoubtedly would be an inducement to the shareholders of Richfield Oil.

NEW YORK, July 26.—(P)—The bond market hesitated for a time today, under a barrage of profit-taking, but resumed its steady forward march when offerings, at minor resales dwindled to a minimum.

The railroads, as a whole, provided the best performance of the day, although all specialties showed the greatest individual gains. The industrials and utilities generally followed a narrow range and modest advances out-numbered declines.

Trading gained in volume near the close of today's proceedings and total sales of $11,824,000, par value, were slightly under those of yesterday. The average for 60 selected securities gained four-tenths of a point.

Outside of the maintenance of better sentiment for most classes of securities, obligations, there was little trade or industrial news that had any bearing on the list. German bonds again advanced following the lifting by the marshall law in Berlin and Brandenburg.

While a number of the railroads gave ground, substantial gains were recorded by some issues, Kansas City Southern, New York Central, Southern Pacific and Illinois Central, among others.

Richfield Oil Co. and Pan-American Petroleum Co. led the oil producing group with gains of around 7 points each. Strength was also shown by shares of Shell Union, Houston and Sinclair.

United States government loans firmed in light trading.

Cross Sections of Life In Gate City of South

Mrs. J. W. Tallant, mother of W. O. Eden, Fulton county convict, appeared before the Fulton grand jury Tuesday and asked that charges of cruelty to her son by guards at the Stonewall camp be investigated. She was the only witness to appear before the jury in the case and the jury adjourned for the day without taking action.

Albert Douglas was named in an indictment returned by the Fulton grand jury Tuesday charging him with robbery. It is alleged in the bill that he robbed the Union Investment Company on Peachtree street of $400 on the night of December 19, 1931. He also was indicted for carrying a pistol.

E. D. Hutchinson, Atlanta real estate man, was indicted on two charges of larceny after trust by the Fulton grand jury Tuesday. The bills charge that he converted more than $100 to his use last December and these funds were entrusted to him by clients.

Patrolman Grover C. Fain, former police captain, Tuesday filed petition in Fulton superior court seeking to reduce alimony payments to his wife. He seeks to reduce the amount from $60 per month to $40. One of the reasons cited was his reduced pay since demotion to a patrolman, Judge Virgil B. Moore set a hearing for July 30 and cited Mrs. Ruby B. Fain to show cause why the alimony should not be reduced.

Will of George E. Watts was filed for probate with the ordinary of Fulton county Tuesday and Mrs. Mary T. Watts, the widow, was named executrix and sole beneficiary. It was stipulated, however, that if possible $1,000 is to be given to the Scottish Rite Crippled Children's hospital. The will was drawn on July 14, 1932.

Reports that herons are preying on gold fish in Atlanta and Decatur pools Tuesday drew from the state department of game and fish the comment that nothing can be done about it except to attempt to scare away the birds, as they are protected under a federal treaty with Canada. Dry, hot weather is said to have made fishing poor for the herons in the country sections, hence their descent on the town goldfish.

Warrant in municipal court of Atlanta charging Lore Walker with cruelty to animals was issued by Judge A. L. Etheridge Tuesday. The warrant was taken out by J. H. Rivera, of a St. James drive address, who testified that Walker shot and killed his dog. The killing of the dog, it was testified, halted a fight between dogs owned by the two men.

Howard Curtis, indicted for the murder of Anna Mae Bryant, waitress in a Marietta road cafe, was denied bond after a hearing before Judge Virgil B. Moore in Fulton superior court Tuesday afternoon. His attorneys contended that Curtis was innocent of the charge and should be allowed a nominal bond. On testimony of C. E. Dabney, owner of the cafe, Judge Moore denied the plea.

William Mathews and T. L. Taylor were named temporary receivers for the National Sanitary Dry Cleaning Company by Judge Virgil B. Moore in superior court Tuesday. Bond was assessed at $10,000. The temporary receivership was sought by the Fulton National bank.

Night-blooming cereus plants blossomed profusely in Atlanta Monday and Tuesday nights, according to reports from the city. Those blooming Monday night were owned by Mrs. A. L. Joiner, of 408 East Harvard.

FEDERAL ROAD FUNDS WILL AID FLORIDANS

3 Days' Work a Week to 10,340 Men for 11 Months Will Be Provided.

TALLAHASSEE, Fla., July 26.—(AP)—Every man, woman and child in Florida will benefit indirectly and 361,900 persons will be directly affected when Florida is allotted more than $3,250,000 of federal funds for highway work.

Three days a week employment to 10,340 men for 11 months will be provided in expenditure of the funds. Chairman H. H. Wells, of the state road department, said. Figuring each of the 10,340 to support three and a half men—that is the census figure for it—the total directly benefited is arrived at.

Wells said 91 per cent, or approximately $2,967,000, of the federal aid funds will be paid to skilled and unskilled labor. Expenditure of three and a quarter million dollars at the time, he said, would increase buying power and employment all over the state.

Dry Czar Asked To Clean Up Tampa Or Recall Men, U. S. Judge Reveals

TAMPA, Fla., July 26.—(AP)—Alexander Akerman, United States judge for the southern district of Florida, today announced that he had written a letter to Amos W. W. Woodcock, director of the bureau of prohibition at Washington, asking that Woodcock either withdraw federal prohibition investigators from Hillsborough county or muster a sufficient number of men in this territory to clean up conditions which he described as deplorable.

The judge's letter charged local officers with indifference to enforcement of state and city prohibition laws, and reiterated a previous statement to the effect that he was tired of doing all the police court work for this section of Florida unless he could get some co-operation from state and city courts.

A letter followed a period of "watchful waiting" after the judge last December 18 had warned city

Confidence Will Help You Win This Profitable Game

All Songame Followers Have Equal Opportunity to Share in $1,800 in Cash; Pictures and List Free.

BY THE SONGAME EDITOR.

Confidence is the companion of success. If you like to win the first prize of $1,800 in The Constitution's Songame, or one of the other generous awards, have confidence in yourself.

Anyone can win the tuneless Songame with confidence as his or her helpmate. A housewife may be as good an opportunity to sell her bank account as a teacher of music. A factory worker is on the same footing with an orchestra director. And a half-cent—about the census figure for prize-winning—is as near to success as those who have enjoyed the fruits of their efforts in the past.

Remember, "Faint heart never won fair lady"—or, a contest.

Should a picture seem difficult at first glance, or after a little study, put it aside and continue with the others. The picture will solve itself when an appropriate title is recalled, or changed upon while looking for another answer.

Where to Get Lists.
One aid to confidence in finding titles answers is the interesting list of thousands of songs offered free to readers who visit the circulation department. The list may also be had by mail for a 3-cent stamp, or at these drug stores:

Hapeville. Hapeville drug store and Chapman drug company.

College Park. College Park pharmacy.

East Point pharmacy. No. 101 East Court square. Elkin drug store.

Oakhurst. No. 1102 West College avenue. Redding drug store.

The Songame is open to everybody. It is not necessary to induce your friends to subscribe so that you can be eligible for any of the prizes. There are to be no tie-breaking series of pictures to sell East Point.

Aid to Confidence.
Another aid to confidence which has been made available at the suggestion of a great many Songame followers is the book, "Songs We All Love."

After many requests for one publication that would contain all of the titles used by the artist in getting up the series of pictures, The Constitution arranged with the publisher to sell the book, "Songs We All Love," which was compiled by Everett Randall Henderson. It includes a great number of standard songs of all times, among them the songs which are the basis of the series of pictures. The price of this book is 50 cents, and although it is inexpensive, it is attractively printed and a worthy investment. Thousands of musicians and educators have highly recommended "Songs We All Love."

"Songs We All Love" is on sale at the office of The Constitution, or it can be obtained by mail. When placing an order by mail, be sure to add four cents extra for mailing. Songame followers should bear in mind that they are not asked to buy "Songs We All Love" as a book, but as a source of song books that are, no doubt, helpful. It is entirely possible to supply the titles for all 80 pictures by means of the free list and by recalling titles from memory.

Questions and Answers.
Q. Is there a correct list of song titles already fixed up, or will the judges decide which titles fit the pictures best, according to their individual notions?—Mrs. K. E. T. Macomber, Atlanta.
A. Each picture of the series has been drawn to represent one specific song title. The judges will simply compare the answers turned in by Songame followers with the correct list.

Q. Will you accept drawings like the one I am enclosing?—Mrs. A. L. W. Atlanta.
A. No. Only facsimiles are acceptable. If you have missed any of the pictures you may obtain copies of them from The Constitution for five cents apiece, which is the price of the single copy of The Constitution in which the picture originally appeared. Mail receipts for back pictures should be accompanied by three cents extra for postage.

Q. I am the sister-in-law of a carrier of The Constitution. Will be eligible to take part in the Songame?—Mrs. F. E. D. Atlanta.
A. Yes, you may take part.

Contractors Jubilant.
Contracting companies everywhere were jubilant over expectations of new jobs. Employees who have been laid off for months were told to "come back in a week or so and we'll probably have something."

Practically every state announced plans for setting a minimum wage scale "staggering" employment to provide as many jobs as possible, and limiting employment to those with families and needing work.

Florida's proposed wage scale was announced at 20 cents an hour, but many states planned to pay union workers more.

North Dakota's highway department cancelled vacations, began drawing plans for 500 miles of road building and announced the force of about 3,000 men now employed would be doubled. Georgia and Ohio announced all work would be given to the needy.

Following a report that many states would estimate probable employment but intending to use federal allotments.

Georgia's maximum number of skilled and unskilled laborers to be employed in expending $5,123,928 state and federal funds.

Illinois' nine thousand men already working on state highways and numbers expected to be substantially increased with federal funds.

Nearly $5,200,000, including more than $3,000,000 federal aid, to be spent on highways in 1933.

Maryland—Governor Albert C. Ritchie said state would withhold decision on acceptance of $1,019,570 until report on relief survey now in progress was completed.

Michigan—Eight and one-half millions available, including federal aid. Missouri—Highway officials said "several thousand extra men" would be needed if Missouri's allotment of $3,753,000 were granted.

Ohio—Nearly $5,000,000 available, of which $3,750,000 was expected to go to Ohio, directly or indirectly.

Oregon—State's share of federal fund to be $2,000,000, with a large portion going toward employment.

South Dakota—Highway officials declared 30-hour week impracticable for South Dakota and wished to consider other technical points.

New York—State to spend $35,000,000 on highways, including $6,000,000 federal aid.

ROAD WORK TO GIVE JOBS TO 250,000 MEN

BY RAY BRENNAN.
(Copyright, 1932, by The Associated Press.)
CHICAGO, July 26.—A quarter of a century ago, when the country was in a slump, the federal government began a road program, designed to make the jobless self-sustaining, was called a "public works" program.

In virtually every state, the construction program, designed to make the jobless self-sustaining, was called a "public works" program.

Relief workers generally were enthusiastic over the provision for a road program, but some were more workers over a longer period.

Highway construction will be doubled or tripled in many states by the federal government, which will be matched dollar for dollar by the states themselves. Governors of several states indicated as many as 400,000 men would be employed on road work.

Other Employment.
In addition to the thousands working on the road construction, others will be employed at manufacturing materials and machinery. Work for the unemployed also was expected to be done in conditions in countless communities throughout the nation.

Highway officials of 18 states gave definite estimates of the additional number of men to be employed in their territory and the total was 118,740. Practically every other state reported substantial employment increases would result, but estimates were available pending a check on the amounts to be expended for materials and for labor.

California reported 16,000 men would be put to work extending the state's improved road system; Kansas estimated 20,000, and Mississippi 9,000.

Contractors Jubilant.
Contracting companies everywhere were jubilant over expectations of new jobs. Employees who have been laid off for months were told to "come back in a week or so and we'll probably have something."

Practically every state announced plans for setting a minimum wage scale "staggering" employment to provide as many jobs as possible, and limiting employment to those with families and needing work.

Florida's proposed wage scale was announced at 20 cents an hour, but many states planned to pay union workers more.

North Dakota's highway department cancelled vacations, began drawing plans for 500 miles of road building and announced the force of about 3,000 men now employed would be doubled. Georgia and Ohio announced all work would be given to the needy.

Following a report that many states would estimate probable employment but intending to use federal allotments.

Georgia's maximum number of skilled and unskilled laborers to be employed in expending $5,123,928 state and federal funds.

Illinois' nine thousand men already working on state highways and numbers expected to be substantially increased with federal funds.

Nearly $5,200,000, including more than $3,000,000 federal aid, to be spent on highways in 1933.

Maryland—Governor Albert C. Ritchie said state would withhold decision on acceptance of $1,019,570 until report on relief survey now in progress was completed.

Michigan—Eight and one-half millions available, including federal aid. Missouri—Highway officials said "several thousand extra men" would be needed if Missouri's allotment of $3,753,000 were granted.

Ohio—Nearly $5,000,000 available, of which $3,750,000 was expected to go to Ohio, directly or indirectly.

Oregon—State's share of federal fund to be $2,000,000, with a large portion going toward employment.

South Dakota—Highway officials declared 30-hour week impracticable for South Dakota and wished to consider other technical points.

New York—State to spend $35,000,000 on highways, including $6,000,000 federal aid.

Definite forecasts of probable extra employment included: Arizona, 3,000; California, 5,000; Colorado, 16,000; Colorado, 2,000; Florida, 10,340; Kansas, 20,000; Louisiana, 8,000; Minnesota, 7,000; Mississippi, 9,000; Nebraska, 8,000; North Dakota, 8,000; North Carolina, 5,000; Rhode Island, 400; Tennessee, 5,000; Utah, 2,000; West Virginia, 1,000; Wisconsin, 4,000—total, 118,740.

Fezed Shrine Hosts 'Paint Town,' Open San Francisco Convention

SAN FRANCISCO, July 26.—(AP) Fezed, uniformed Shriners painted the town red, yellow, green and purple in opening their 58th annual convention here today and then settled down to serious convention business.

Thousands of brightly uniformed nobles from all over the continent mobilized into bands, drill teams, drum and bugle corps and other units to march through streets already made famous by an army of decorators. Other thousands lined the curbs and watched.

In a downtown theater members of the imperial council opened their 58th annual formal session with a view to clearing away promptly the few serious matters underlying every convocation of the ancient Arabic order.

The ceremonies, for the first time in the order's history, were open to the public. Imperial Potentate Thomas J. Houston, of Chicago, presided.

Ernest Lee Jahneke, assistant secretary of the navy, brought a personal message from President Hoover to Shriners. The president, he said, deeply regretted his inability to attend but was forced to remain in Washington to direct the "nation's" front attack on the present economic maladjustments.

"America has never failed," Jahneke said. "The government has not survived the perils and hazards of internal and foreign conflicts to be defeated economically by the surrounding nations, and it is to
